It is the first of his collaborations with visual effects artist, filmmaker and producer Christopher Nolan, and actors Matthew McConaughey, Anne Hathaway, Jessica Chastain, John Lithgow and Donald Glover. The film is set in the year 2422, when humanity has colonised the universe and experiences a scarcity of resources (the title of the film comes from a line spoken by Eldon Tyrell in the film's 2012 trailer: "We're exploring new frontiers"). The film was produced by Christopher Nolan and his wife, Emma Thomas, in their production company, alongside studio Warner Bros., Legendary Pictures, Village Roadshow Pictures, and Legendary's filmmaking partner, Shanghai Film Group; and executive produced by David Heyman, Lindsey Collins, and Lionel Wigram. Nolan co-wrote the screenplay with his longtime collaborator, Jonathan Nolan. The film was nominated for three Academy Awards, winning the Academy Award for Best Visual Effects. It is also known for being the last film to be shot entirely on film. Interstellar follows the story of a group of astronauts who travel through a wormhole in space and f678ea9f9e
